

Deepwater Horizon: One Year Later
Selected Resources - listed alphabetically
Compiled by Betsy Baker, Vermont Law School

BOEMRE - Reorganization and Regulatory Reform post-spill

BP's website, including a film in which Bob Dudley promises that BP is working to “put safety and risk management at the heart of everything we do.”

Det Norske Veritas Final Report for BOEMRE, March 23, 2011, on what caused the blowout preventer to fail (buckling)

DOI Ministerial Forum on Well Containment \(April 14, 2011\), held a week before the one-year anniversary of the spill, in which Secretary Salazar proposed a working group to investigate possibility of a new high level international organization to set international standards for offshore well containment.

Gulf Oil Spill Information Center, University of South Florida portal

National Commission on the BP Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill and Offshore Drilling, including links to its report and subsequent developments, and the Chief Counsel's Report (Fred H. Bartlit, Jr.)

National Research Council Study on loss of ecosystem services from Gulf Spill - project description.
Chair: Larry Mayer, UNH Center for Coastal and Ocean Mapping

NRDC's Analysis of the Spill's Impacts One Year Later (including a report from Frances Beinecke, who a member of the National Commission on the Spill)

NOAA lifts fishery closure in last remaining federal waters shut following the spill - one day before one year anniversary, effective April 19, 2011, 6:00 a.m. EST

RestoretheGulf.gov Press Pack for One Year Later with government statistics on amount, fate of oil, and other response efforts

Roger Williams School of law, Marine Affairs Institute program “Blowout - Legal Legacy of the Deepwater Horizon Catastrophe one year later (director is Vermont Law School Grad, Susan Farady)

Science Magazine - The Science of the Oil Spill series of articles

Smithsonian Institution Program on the Spill One Year Later (thanks to Matt Reudelhuber, a member of our spill reading group)

State of Florida Department of Environmental Protection One Year Later fact sheet on state's costs, one year after the spill, and discussion of Natural Resource Damage Assessment and restoration processes.

Transocean website, including links to its Deepwater Incident information, and to its record-breaking drilling depth of 10,194 feet of water, reached offshore India on April 11, 2011. No link was found to its securities filing in April 2011 claiming a good safety year and awarding executive bonuses.

Please note that the links above generally relate to events reported within a month of the one year anniversary of the BP Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill, which occurred on April 20, 2010. For links to earlier resources, see Vermont Law School TWEN Site : Deepwater Horizon Reading Group, freely accessible by all and current through December 2010, with links to new regulations and other legal developments in the months following the spill.

Please write to bbaker@vermontlaw.edu with questions or comments. Proposed additions welcome.