

LICENSING AND USE OF VLS NAME AND TRADEMARK

Vermont Law School's federally registered trademark include: "Vermont Law School," "VLS," the official Vermont Law School seal and design, symbol, tower logo, art, and/or word(s) associated with or referring to Vermont Law School.

Everyone, including officially recognized student organizations, who wishes to use the names, marks, logos, seals and/or symbols of Vermont Law School on products such as clothing, uniforms, furniture, or other items (including letterhead, envelopes, forms, or publications) is required to obtain prior approval from the Vermont Law School Licensing Program Office (Communications Office). For usage permission and more information, contact the Communications Office.