

Restorative Justice Theory and Practice
Professor Kidde
First Assignment
Fall 2018

Please read the following, prior to class:

Zehr, H. (2002). The Little Book of Restorative Justice. Intercourse, PA: Good Books. pp. 3 – 69

Zehr, H. Toews, B. (Eds.). (2004). Critical Issues in Restorative Justice. Mosney, NY: Criminal Justice Press. Pp. vii – xi

In preparation for the first class and after completing the pre-requisite reading, students are expected to bring a brief written summary of restorative justice to the first class. The summary can be a brief list of key elements, features or principles, a short paragraph of 3 – 5 sentences, or even a visual. It will be used during the first class to develop a working draft definition of restorative justice.
